

introducing associations.

and sustainable growth in Europe;

with the provisions of the Lisbon treaty.

MANIFESTO FOR A

EUROPEAN STATUTE OF

THE EUROPEAN

ASSOCIATION

We, the representatives of the Organised Civil Society, urge

Civil society organisations have been campaigning for a long period of time for the setting up of a European Statute for the European Association, giving institutional recognition to the engagement and to the activism of millions of citizens, freely and voluntarily joining together in associations across Europe. The freedom of association at European level is both a fundamental right of the European citizens and an active

We are now at a critical juncture to build a citizens' Europe and we believe that the

- give official recognition of the legitimacy and the relevance of European

- secure the diversity of social economy across Europe, contribute to cohesive, smart

- build a common political culture that gives citizens from Member States the possibility to gather together within legally recognised transnational organizations; establish a common framework and recognise our European dimension, facilitate our transnational activities and ensure democratic functioning and sustainability at

- lay the foundations for the development of a genuine European civil dialogue along

European Statute for European association is an essential instrument aiming to:

associations' collective voice in a more participatory European democracy;

European

for proposals

component in the emergence of a European public sphere.

statutes

European level;

